“ Amanda - I am still in complete disbelief... Never do we think at our age that we'd be losing each other. I don't think losses like this will ever be easy. My heart aches and it makes me so sad to think of the world you left behind. Looking back on our childhood, I remember the sleep overs in your basement, the halloween parties... listening to backstreet boys... nelly... just being silly, just being kids. I remember driving you in my first 5 speed car and you laughing at how I drove. I am so terribly sorry that we didn't get to speak as much as I'm sure we could have, but as I said... I never could have anticipated such a loss. I will continue to pray for Dylan and your family... I know you're looking over them and missing them as much as they miss you.
