“ Thinking about you... I tend to do that a lot! I reminisce on the Thursday nights we used to spend together when Kim went bowling. We always watched Home Improvement and ordered pizza from Domino's. I'm sure you hear me speaking to you above, 😊 I wanted to share this since I previously mentioned always remembering who I inherited my personality from and in my journey many have told me that it is one of my best traits :) And boom if the proof is not in the pudding... (Lol) I miss you Dad, there isn't a day when I don't think about you. Love your daughter Jessica Cicchini

“ My deepest condolences to you, Kim. I didn't know Andy, however having worked with you for so many years now, I know he liked buying you beautiful things. Often, I would comment on a beautiful purse you had or nice piece of jewelry you were wearing and you would proudly say that Andy bought it for you. You always spoke fondly of him. \n I'm sending healing prayers and comforting hugs your way - and may your happy memories help you through the difficult days. Lyn

“ God bless your soul Dad. Sad, we were never able to reunite before you went on to enjoy our family in heaven with no one better than Jesus. I will always continue to remember who I inherited my personality from (Lol), who taught me my work ethic, and who only wanted to see me succeed. I'm sure you're reading this from above and as you can see I'm successful, I recently left you a voicemail sending you my deepest condolences for Aunt Joanne, when she and I were in touch she would tell me \"you are a lot like your Father.\" I feel like that last phone call was Jesus giving me one last chance to tell you I love you Dad and I will forever love you...Love always your one and only daughter, Jessica Cicchini.
