“ I stared at the screen a long time before writing... There really are no words to describe this moment, but I will try my best with God's help. We go way back, me and you. You have always been, and will always be a treasure. TREASURE... that's what you are to sooo many people, Heather. I feel the love of family and friends in every single post you share. At your wedding, I sat back in awe, as I soaked up all the love that filled that room. The pic of you and Miss Anne you posted sums up what she has always been to you... Your Biggest Cheerleader. That won't stop, Heather. Your Mom is still cheering you on. You know my fondest memory of her... the day you visited my home. She was so funny... laughing at my Charlie Brown Christmas Tree. And, the breakfast I fixed with the turkey bacon (that's our secret...smile) Guess I found some words, after all. I can't take credit though. It's God. You love Black Angels... everyone knows that's your favorite (and, crabs of course!) Your Mom has always been, and will always be your Biggest Cheering Angel, Heather. God loves you so much...I love you. My heart is with you and the family, always...Lisa (20)💛

“ My deepest condolences to the family and friends of Ms. Hammond. I feel like I knew her family because she was so proud of everyone and talked about her family with so much love, pride and joy all the time! And the babies were her heart! I will miss sitting next to her in church and how she greeted me like she was always so happy I was there! RIP my dear friend. I love you and miss you already!

“ I don't know where to begin. I was sad to hear of your untimely passing. I have known you literally my whole life. I remember spending nights at your house as a child. I remember as we got older everytime I went to a baby shower, I would ask you to make me one of those cute baby books for a gift. I remember you always being Frank and so funny. I have some funny memories of growing up at your house that I will NEVER forget. I pray that Lisa, Heather & Tiffany, your grands & great grands find peace in knowing that you are with the Lord. May memories of great times pent with you help ease the pain...Juanita J.

“ Anne, where do I start? It's unbelievable at this time to write these words to you. Over 17 yrs ago you have came into my life for a reason. I left home and moved to a place unknown to me. You were the first mother figure that I was able to absorb and squeeze love and humor from 😊 with a sprinkle of bluntness. I loved your character because you were you. I've always asked about you but in my heart I always smiled and laughed with the thought of you. I love to smile and laugh ALL the time and you made my smile bigger and laughs harder everytime. Sitting next to you in church, eating your food or just hear you say my name the way you did 😊😊 will always be memorable to me. Of course, as you know I can talk or keep texting but I just wanted to say I wish I was able to say all these things beforehand 😞. May your memories live on through all that loved you. You will be truly missed. The one and only your "Verandahhhhhhh" 😭

“ Auntie Anne always had a beaming smile, a hug, a kiss, and kind words for me. She made me feel like I was someone special; that was her gift to me. Miss you and love you, Auntie.

“ She was truly a ray of sunshine inside and out. You couldn't help but smile just being around her! She never let me call her “Ms. Anne” and I will never forget that 😭 I thought I was respecting my elder but she always told me she was too young to be called “Ms.” She also treated my daughter as if she was her own grandchild and I always appreciated that. Im certainly praying for her family because they have lost such a beautiful angel 🕊️

“ There are so many memories, it is hard to choose - but I'm choosing to share these from before her children were born. These are a few random memories that I will share as they pop into my mind. Ann was always special, and easy to love. She was the only one of our generation that had our grampy's, (Murray Nelson) light colored eyes. She played a mean game of Jacks, and was the undisputed champion. When we were teenagers, I remember the hot summer days when our cousin Patsy would scoop up us sisters: Carol, Ann & myself; along with \"sister/cousin\" Sandra and take us to Carr's or Sparrows Beach to hear the latest rock & roll sensations such as James Brown and Fats Domino. The ride to the beach and on the way back home was just as much fun as we giggled about girly things. I remember the long walks the three of us took from Delafield St, down S Dakota to R I Ave to Eastern Ave and back home - back then it was safe for teen girls to walk after dark. I remember Ann's favorite shoes - 19's - I think she had them in every color. Ann was gifted - she could sew anything' from wedding dresses to Raggedy Ann dolls. These are just a few of many memories that I will treasure. I miss her. I encourage Ann's daughters, grandchildren and great grandchildren to hold on to and share their individual memories, they are a balm to the soul and a blessing blessing from God.

“ Anne was such a beautiful person. I always called her Ms. Anne and she always fussed about it 😊. I had the pleasure of knowing her because of her great grandchildren and her granddaughter Brittany. She became part of my family and the family at Loving 2 Learn Child Care Center and was always there to support her family and the center at family events and activities. She even sewed beautiful costumes for our annual Christmas program. Anne would brighten the room whenever she came in and she will be deeply missed. My love and prayers are with your family during this difficult time. Love, Rochanne 💕💕

“ Anne, I can't begin to explain the pain your loss has caused me and the family. I miss everything about you. You were super handy, the best cook and seamstress. You knew something about everything. I loved thrift store shopping with you, watching I Love Lucy and game shows with you, and taking you to church. I admired your style, your beautiful smile and your love for your family. One of my fondest memories is from elementary school when you would fix my lunch and write a note on my napkin. It was the highlight of my day. So when you stayed with me in Silver Spring and would fix my lunch, my coworkers didn't understand my excitement to open my lunch and see that you had written a note on my napkin. This is still so unbelievable to me. I can't say bye so I'll just say see ya later. Love always, Lisa Maxine

“ It's true what they say time waits for no one. I had plans to take you to lunch one day and catch up but God had other plans. I have so many wonderful memories and many thanks for you. From saving me from a few whippings to making sure I was beautiful on my wedding day, to remembering my anniversary and encouraging me through my trials and tribulations. I could never thank you enough. I love you and thanks for everything. You will truly be missed.
