“ Q: How did you meet Blake?
A: Hahaha! I was his employer, the person who sent him to Wastewater Treatment Plant (The Sh!T Plant) for his 2nd job assignment with us, “Staffmax Temp Agency” They loved his work ethic & so did I. We were engaged, but to other people. Slowly we broke it off with them & started finding ways to spend time together, under the trees at Cox’s Point, calling at 10pm to send him to “a job” from 11pm-7am aka-my bedroom, then after fully breaking up with our sig others, & after 3 months, we (yep, just us) went to Towson Courthouse & got Hitched. JUNE 22, 2000. Outside, we payed a 12yr old boy to take some pics, grabbed a few hotdogs & went back to his(well, now our) place. That weekend we told fam & friends & the rest is HisTory, no OurStory 💋💋💋💋💋
♥️ \r\nA lot I will slowly share, Most I won’t. For Obvious reasons, if you knew Blake & Lisa, then YOU KNEW 😂😂😂😂

“ Honey...its 02/23/21. This is the first time I have viewed your obituary. I just couldn't do it. Even now the tears are streaming down my face...i have to take my glasses off... But i wanted to stop by and say hi. I know you were with me today because I saw a blow up pillow for keeping my feet elevated when I sleep. I looked at it then put it down because it was $20.00. Then you, i know it was you, made me pick it back up and buy it. \"Honey, take care of your feet!\" you said. 😭😭 in a strong tone voice. Even though you were struggling, you ALWAYS made sure i was taking care of myself. 🙄🙄ugh..the snot and tears.... Ok i could go on and on... I'll just leave it at this..... Our way of ending a text. ❤️❤️❤️💋💋💋 forever my husband never a widow.

“ I remember Blake when he was only a little guy running around his mom's house in a diaper getting into all sorts of trouble and him telling a lady his name was rustyballs. His mom wanted to kill her brother, and his uncle was the only one allowed to call him that when he got older. Miss you. Love Uncle Jimmy and Aunt Anita
