“ I will never forget you, my precious daughter, you never had the chance to live a happy life , which you deserved, at the prime of your life. You brought happiness, and joy to the ones you loved, and others. Your talents where immeasurable, people who knew her art work, and Creativity, were appreciative of her amazing talent. Christine had conservative values like no other, she never discussed it, but if you want a session with her about those values ,pull a chair.\nShe did not get a masters degree by just being ordinary.\nWe will miss her and hold on to her memories.\nRest in peace my sweet angle. Love dad.
