“ Dan was a good man he was very crafty with his hands. I will always remember chilling in the sun room having a blast with him and David. Dan was a terrific pop pop to me n Jimmy's son Chris. Dan would walk in the house and see Chris and say what's up bub n call me pudding. Dan you will be truly missed by many. As you go to heaven to meet your loved ones that are waiting for you at the gate. Please watch over Chris, Jimmy and Nathan. Tell Grammy I said hi. May you rest in peace. \r\n\r\nWith all my love,\r\n Linda( puddin)

“ Some of my favorite stories from my Mom are the ones of her and her brothers. There are countless stories of my Uncle Dan we all still laugh about. I remember the funny things he would do to make us laugh, like pretending to eat a giant ant and accidentally throwing it on his face instead, or scaring my cousins & brother after they watched a scary movie, or his silly voices when he was talking to his grandson, Christopher. He really was a goofy guy with a big heart. \n\nI'll always think of him whenever I'm watching his favorite show Survivor, trying to fix something on my own, or listening to Pink Floyd (He was super proud of my taste in music growing up!) He was a genuine, wonderful person and an awesome Uncle. \nHis memory is cherished by many and he will be dearly missed. \n\nWith all of our love, Rest Easy Uncle Dan. \n\n\nChelsie

“ Dan - what a guy! Dan was a terrific handyman. He could fix nearly everything the “old school” way. He even fixed broken hearts. \n\nDan - what a craftsman! A deck stands strong and sturdy in my backyard designed and built by Dan. There are many treasured shelving units and refurbished furniture in my home built by Dan. \n\nDan - what a fun guy. Dan would get in his “silly” mood and make people laugh until we had tears rolling down our cheeks. \n\nDan - the kind guy. Dan would do small gestures, like randomly making you a cup of hot tea on a cold day, make a knick-knack out of upcycled wood, give an unexpected hug, a pat on the back, or say words of encouragement. \n\nThese are just a few things about Dan that I will hold dear to me. Dan was a caring son, a fabulous brother, a loving Dad, a fun Papa, a silly uncle, and a loyal friend. I will miss him all the days of my life. Rest Easy, my brother, my friend. See you on the other side. \n\n\nTerrie
