“ I have so many fond memories with you daddy. But the ones that stick out the most are the ones where you would take use children out on the road with you during the summer. I remember enjoying my first all you can eat buffet, and the only thing i ate there that day was a huge salad. I remember you buying my velvet coloring pages so i didnt get board. I remember listening to Ricky Van Shelton while riding down the road. I remember getting so scared while waiting for you to come back out of the warehouse after being unloaded. Having you as a father was and is so rewarding. I look for many of your traits in a man of my own. Today is your birthday and i cannot help but think of you not that i havent though of you everyday since that tragic day when god called you home. I love and i miss you much.
