“ I was sorry to hear you had passed. But when I saw you last you were in a lot of pain so maybe for you this wasn't such a bad thing. I will always remember the endless number of football, baseball, and softball games we have played. The numbers of beers drank and the time spent having a good time. When I hear Bruce Springsteen's Glory Days I always think back to days of the Aces and remember what a good time we had. Because of that you will not be forgotten. To the Childress family, I am so sorry for your loss, but I like to think we go to a better place.
