“ My name is Elena, I was Ernie's caregiver the last few months of his life in Pocomoke, MD. He had a caregiver named Valerie for years, she was a neighbor to him and she moved him in with her and her husband to make sure he was looked after. She was his caregiver until the end. I helped when needed. He was always in a cheerful mood and loved to sing. He loved classical music, and used to play the violin. His favorite song was the silver and gold waltz. He also would sing the wartime songs. He was a tall man and strong from years of steel work. It was nice to know him and care for him.
Deepest sympathies, Elena Pingitore
