“ Please accept our condolences for your lost. Death is such a brutal enemy that robs us of our loved ones. At times it is almost impossible to express in words how we truly feel. I recently lost my loved one and what provided me and my family comfort was reading about the wonderful miracles that God's son Jesus performed when he was on earth especially when he resurrected Lazarus. Please read that wonderful account at John 11:1-45 and may it bring comfort to you and your family our Heavenly Father has promised the same will happen in the future. (Titus 1:2) Please read more about those encouraging future promises - John 5:28, 29a, Revelation 21:4, Isaiah 33:24a

“ I miss you every day Fern. You will always be remembered as a dear friend. I can't help but smile when I think of you. You know I'm right when I say you could be ditsy from time to time. If you run out of gas floating on the clouds, call me and I'll bring my gas can to help you out.
