“ I shared so many years of friendship with Gayle. We started out as enemies because of a an ex of both of ours, but shortly after became the best of friends. We loved to spend time with our kids and we were pregnant together. It was so amazing to share that experience with her and all the kids became really close friends. When she moved away I missed her but because super close to Charlene. That was hard to navigate at times. I truly believe everything happens for a reason but I will miss her the rest of my life. It's been a fun adventure but in the end you know who has your back and who doesn't. She always had my back and I will always remember that loyalty. We didn't fight ever. I tried to help but in the end that terrible cancer won and that will hurt my heart always.

“ Me and Gayle, I never thought she would be a friend, why, I was dating her boyfriend without even knowing her. On our first meeting, we clicked and have been close ever since. I'm thankful to have her as a strong person in my life. I fell in love with her entire family. God bless all of you for your loss.
