“ *My condolence to Pam and family for their loss of Mark's presence. He is gone but not forgotten. I met Mark and Pam at our marina were we dock our boats and shared may good times with them and friends on and off the docks and water. I remember Mark as being very creative. I saw him take a old pair of flip-flops to try to make them anti-skid. Another time, he modified a pair of reading glasses to exhibit a different perspective when worn. Interesting results I may add. AS one boater would say to another, may the sun be on your face and the wind at your back. I know in my heart that Mark's soul is with our maker and is on his next journey with friends and love ones that have passed into the light. To Pam and friends, be strong and cherish the good times. “ On March 2, 1962 Harry Mark DeBandi was the second son born to Dr. Harry and Mrs. Doris DeBandi. As far back as kindergarten, Mark made four devoted friends Bernard, Dave, Race and Joey, that have been with him through all of lifes events. From the start of high school he played football for the Maroons, then eventually graduated from Madisonville High School in May 1980. Mark attended Kentucky University and received a Bachelor of Science degree in 1984. While at college Sandy and Sara entered his life. They became Marks stepmother and stepsister. The story he always told was when he came home from college, Sara his stepsister, would sit on his back while he did push ups. Thats so Mark, always pushing himself during workouts as he did in all aspects of his life. While at college he met and married Lori and his first job took them to California. A few years later he had two beautiful children, Kate and Derek. As Mark moved up the ladder and advanced his career, with HP, Lockheed, Nortel, Ciena and finally Nokia, he moved to different parts of the United States. He eventually settled down in Sykesville, Maryland. Then in or around 2009 he made his way to Annapolis and he made it his home. I can remember when we first met and the stories he told me about his two brothers. He admired the long conversations about life with his older brother Paul, and the extreme motorcycle trips with his younger brother David. Mark loved those times and memories with his two brothers. I entered his life in 2010. We had a beautiful life together of traveling, boating and hanging out. Ill always cherish our date nights, holiday parties we hosted, crab feasts, and our overnights on Liquid Assets. We married in 2017 and he had two wonderful step children, Spencer and Alexis. Mark, my beloved husband and best friend, I love you. You are missed everyday.

“ To Pam and Family, So very sorry for your loss! Mark was such a very big part of our lives in high school. He was always the same every time you saw him.....always a gentleman, kind, and smiling. We had so many fun times in Jr. High as well - all will remember playing football at my parents' house. Great memories! He will surely be missed! May God hold you and your family tightly In his arms as you go through this very difficult time. Will be praying for you all! Cynthia Ramsey Cooper
