“ I've been LOOKING for you, big brother! That was me calling to you, through the years- channeling Sally, Charlie Brown 's little sister from Peanuts.
Oh the memories and history we shared. Now you are in a place too glorious for us to imagine. Say Hi to Mom and Dad for me. What an incredible, indescribable reunion when we meet on that beautiful shore! Thanks for being a great brother. I miss you already. Love Elaine “ Jim loved the beach. He spent a lot of summer days all day on the beach reading World War II memoirs while breathing in the ocean air and basking in the sun. . He loved playing the music game Mingo with his friends. Jim often hosted Mingo along with corn hole competitions and Texas Hold um in many back yard parties. He surely was a natural when it came to entertaining his friends and family. Jim often rode his grandson in a wagon for long periods in the yard and up and down the side walk. Jim never tired. He was such a proud grandfather who worn a huge smile when he spoke of Brooks.

I'm glad I had the privilege to call him a dear friend. My husband and I will surely miss him.

“ All my love, hugs, and prayers are with Vicki, Sean, Elaine and their families. Jim was always a true friend. A true friend is like a diamond, and he was a diamond of a friend. I was blessed to have him in my life. Thank you, God, for the incredible blessing of Jim and his loving friendship. The world simply isn't as bright now that he went to Heaven to his incredible homecoming. We miss you. We'll see you soon, dear friend.
