“ I have so many crazy, funny memories of my "Aunt Chinki", but I think my favorite is her story of fudging her age when she applied for work after moving back to Maryland and coming out of retirement. She lowered it by 10 years and the HR person told her she needed to get her drivers license corrected because it had an incorrect birth year. She held me in the first hours I was born and I held her hand in the last hours before she passed 78 years later. My godmother, aunt and always there for me through all the years.
