“ I never had to explain how much you meant to me. It was unspoken. You could see it in a crowd, feel it 5 states away. Hide it with a different emotion and still know it was there. I know I made you proud. Everything I've achieved in life you were over the moon about. If something went wrong you never questioned if I tried my best or gave it my all. I pray you know how proud of you I was. The way you gave your all to everyone around you while taking the shorter stick. You were the definition of unselfish. You tried hard to stay. But you were tired Daddy. And that's ok. You put all your strength in everything you did. As much as I want you back I know you're in a better place. Free of the constant pulls that life causes. Free of the stress. Yet still watching us succeed and cheering us on. You've got first row seating in my VIP box. Forever and always your little girl. I love you big much as Theo would say! I wasn't ready but honestly I would have never been ready. You taught me everything I know. Time to put it into action. Off to make you more proud Daddy! I love you more than my heart can hold. Forever and always your little brat!
