

Joyce Meela Gallant

June 17, 1953 - October 16, 2018

Joyce Meela Gallant Joyce Gallant was born in Harlem, New York on Jun 17th, 1953. She was the daughter of Joyce Gallant and late Joseph Gallant. She is survived by her daughters Yene, Yasmina and husband Najee, Yema and husband Gianni, and sons Maji and Solomon and wife Christy, grandchildren Meeya, Elaina, Sean, Quinton, Reha, Rylie, and Gia, sisters Julie and Jill, and brothers Jeffrey and Joel. Also leaves behind many nieces, nephews, and beautiful cousins. She was raised in Harlem where she was a poet, activist, jewelry maker, martial artist and achieved a black belt in Goju Ryu with many trophies to show. Joy loved to take care of her children and grandchildren, served actively at her church, and loved to make the world's best fried chicken and cornbread. Joy was deeply loved, admired, and unique in this life, and danced to the beat of her own drum. Ma, Sis, Nana you will be missed, but certainly not forgotten. Please take rest in heaven until the day we meet you again.
