“ Julie was a very kind person. After leaving Verison, (she took a job delivering prescriptions). I rode along a couple of times, and she didn't just deliver the prescriptions, she took the time to kneel down (if the customer was in a wheelchair) and explain to the customer how to take the meds. Sometimes she actually went in to visit for a few minutes. Other times she would get their mail for them. Customers looked forward to Julie visiting with their prescriptions. She was like an angel fluttering from house delivering a few moments of kindness.
