“ I remember when my best friend Kristen fell in love with you. We were just a bunch of young kids who thought we knew it all. You both were inseparable for two years. You were there when Kristen and I got into trouble, her sneaking over to your house when she first got her licenses. You were part of so many memories and I'll always remember the great times we all had together. Your family are all in my prayers. God truly gained an angel.

“ Justin, not only were you one of my best friends of 15 years, you were a brother to me. After bonding from being stuck in a miserable English class we quickly grew close. I loved whenever you would ride my bus home and then we would walk to the mall on the bike trail and hang out. Party's on the weekends were some of my better memories. Playing video games online, cutting class together, listening to chronic future and bullet for my valentine. We always had a blast with everything we did. You were always the friend I could go to when I needed to vent about a problem. You were always incredibly kind and understanding. I fell in love with your girls when they were born. I enjoyed coming over and just chilling with you and talking about life while visiting Skarlet and Aurora. You will truly be missed and never EVER forgotten. I love you brother. My heart goes out to my family, Mom (Mrs Dawn), Scott, Devyn, Makenzie, Skarlet, and Aurora.
