“ I am blessed to have a grandmother like her in my life. I am glad she is not suffering anymore and in a better place now. One of my favorite memories with her was that we watch love can build a bridge i really love that movie. I really misses her and i had more time with her before she pasted😞

“ One of the strongest and most stubborn women I've ever known. She was there for a lot of big milestones in my life. Someone to talk to when I didn't have anyone else. Not to mention, she went from not being able to keep a houseplant alive to a novice gardener this past year. It was cute hearing the excitement in her voice when her plants started growing. She did the best she could with the life she had. Mother of 5 and we all have a piece of her in us. I love you and miss you Mom. I hope you are finally at peace
