“ My father was a good, albeit flawed man. I am going to mention the good rather than focus on the bad. When my brother and I were kids, he would always make us laugh. He used to carry me down the steps to breakfast when I was little, & called me his princess. He also use to pick us up in the kitchen when we'd ask, & dance us around the kitchen to the music on the radio. He was the love of my mother's life, her high school sweetheart, & a good dad. He seemed to get along with everyone, & was very quick witted. If you knew my father, please remember the good in him. I know he did some bad things in life, but I ask that you don't dwell on it. Think happy thoughts of him, I know I will.
