“ It's already November 20. I can't believe how fast the time has gone. I will never stop loving you, and wishing everyday you still was here with us! I hope as we have to learn to live without you, no matter how hard times will get we make you still so proud of us. Baby please keep your guidance on our boys, I know there's going to be things they wish they had you there to teach them. But the incredible, huge hearted man that had no limit to the things he could do will still find away to place your hands on them and guide them threw life. Never forget all the ones you touched and put your forever memories with. And baby never ever for one second ever doubt the man, husband and father you where. You had such a confident greatness attitude in life and at the same time the softest marshmallow soul that just wanted approval but most of all to be loved and to give it back. Thank you for choosing me to be your wife the mother of your kids, you have fulfilled me fully. I love you always and forever daddy!!! Fly free and watch over all of us, now you have the biggest job ever. Keeping all us crazy people in line ♡♡♡
