“ I miss you Rob. I met Rob more than 20 yrs ago when I was young and he was younger. We served together for about 10 years and it was time for each of us to start our new lives. He felt that the military was not his calling, but it did later lead to the work and friends who surround him. We had about three important talks. He took the little bit of guidance I gave him, kindness I showed him, and paid it forward 1000 times to so many of the members on his teams, military & civilian, the community, and became the person we all love. In recent years, he has been there for me and my family. There's a movie line that goes "The flame that burns twice as bright burns half as long." Rob is still shining in so many of our hearts. My prayers to his wife, his children, mom & dad, and his extended family (relatives & the rest of us) and know that he still shines bright in our hearts. Rick S
