

Roger Brian Brame

December 28, 1948 - September 30, 2022

Roger Brian Brame of Westminster, MD set sail for deeper waters on Friday, September 30th, 2022.

If you ever stepped into Roger's home, you'd be made at ease almost immediately. He could talk to anyone, no matter their age, status, nationality, etc. He was interested in people and politics, boating and history, stories about any and everything. Mention you loved a certain movie or musical artist, and he probably could quote half of the movie or sing at least a few lines of their songs (although maybe adlibbing his own lyrics a bit).

Although he didn't have the typical look of a risk-taker, he did take many risks in life. He joined the Navy, young and ready to take on the world. He sailed to Bermuda and back, twice! He bungee jumped. Ever curious, he was always learning about new hobbies, involving himself in his children's interests, and staying at the forefront of technology, something he was proud of. A true modern Renaissance man, he knew how to make or fix anything, do just about any job, or would quickly learn how.

He brought 30 years of love and laughter, adventures, fun, and family to his wife Kim. She balanced all his quirks and was up for any adventures he planned for them. Together, they created a loving home in Westminster, MD with their youngest son. They learned and grew together, taking care of one another through each of their individual battles over the years.

Left behind to honor his memory are his wife Kim Brame; his children Carter Brame, Matt Brame, Andy Sellers, and Kenley Brame; his grandchildren Harper and Ian; his mother Mary Martin; his siblings Karen Permenter, Rob Brame, and Donna Behrens; several nieces and nephews; and his loving dog Toby.

“ I've known Roger most of my life, and everyone in his immediate family, for that matter. His brother Rob and I have been close friends since 1964. Roger was older than us and I got to know him much better later in life. I remember his pleasant personality more than anything, and his great sense of humor. I just felt good when I was around him. He was a funny guy, casual and laid back, and knew a lot about a great many things. He was a good conversationalist and I liked talking to him. I know he was a great sailor, and loved being on the water. He was a radioman in the NAVY and also owned many beautiful boats during his life. We will miss him but Heaven is a better place now. I feel fortunate to have known him and to have spent time with him through the years. Roger always had a good vibe about him, and I never really recall him being upset or angry about anything. Smooth personality. Great guy. Fair winds and Following Seas old friend-

“ I met Roger in 1983 when he bought our Vanagon Camper. We visited each other a few times. He and Bonnie were living on a house boat for a while. In December 84 we moved back to Switzerland, and we have only been in very loose contact since. My condolences to all of his family. Klaus Kuefner from Switzerland

“ Our family met Roger and Kim shortly after their son, Carter’s birth. \r\nRoger was very open and friendly, quick to offer help and encouragement when needed. \r\nHe added life to the parties hosted at our home, always ready with a smile, (and a good appetite, I might add).\r\nI remember some Friday nights, in summer, when he would pick up his kids and they would kick off the weekend with a family fun time in our pool.\r\nWe were blessed to have known him, and he will surely be missed.\r\nPsalm 34:18 “He Lord is close to the broken hearted and saves those who are crushed in spirit.”\r\nWith much love, we offer our condolences to all his family.\r\nIn the love of Jesus, Josie and Paul Esposito
