“ Ronnie, I still feel like it's a bad dream, but I wake up to find out it's true. I'm just happy that we did find our way back to each other. Valentine's day is going to be really hard for me. We were going to spend that weekend together. I'm going to miss you Ronnie, but I will see you again. I'll forever love you.

“ I was so sorry to hear of your passing Ronnie. You were a sweet loving little boy and though we hadn't seen each other but a few times since growing up, you will always be in the hearts of those who love you. You're with your family in your heavenly home now, all cares and worries gone and only love and peace surround you. Rest well sweet Ronnie ❤️🌹❤️

“ Unfortunately, I didn't know Ronnie very well. The first time I met him, he had just "gotten out". He came to visit Grandma Ollie when we lived on Poppleton St. We were moving from one house to another. He jumped right in and began to help. I remember thinking how kind that was. I didn't see him much after that, except Christmas gatherings. In every conversation I had with him I could feel his, kind and loving heart. I hope he as at peace and I know he will be missed by many.

“ Ronnie, one of the things I remember most about you was as a young boy. I can see you with the biggest grin on your face so happy because your mom had gotten you a bike for your birthday! You lived on Montfort Ave and we lived around the corner on Madison St. You were such a sweet, caring little boy. I know you are happy and free now ! I love you. Heidi
