“ Your son is growing up without you and they couldn't even be bothered to mention him in your obituary. He's almost 13 now and he's always doing something that reminds me of you. Whether it's beatboxing or playing video games, you're still part of him and I don't let him forget you cared for him, ever. I know you're not here anymore, but you'd be looking up to him yourself now. ”

“ Dear Ryan, I haven't been able to breathe since the day I found out you were gone. My heart broke for the loss and for our family. You were always here, here in my house, whether it was a holiday or just the two of us talking about our favorite TV show, you were here. Now you are gone and I don't know how to deal with that, I want to run away from it all. You were like a son to both your Uncle Mykl and me, and we loved you like one. I miss you so much already but know that Mom Mom and Pop Pop were waiting for you so you are now safe with them. Love you, Ryan. ”
