“I don't know where to start. I missed a call on my house phone (which I barely use) from Mary Ann, and I grabbed the stupid phone wrong n deleted the number by accident. So I left a text on the number I had for Stephen. I had called but ? the line was busy. There was an automated message. I couldn't easily Google search Mary Ann. So I googled Stephen, and holy Hell, I almost fell over. I hadn't really been in touch with folks at the hospital. In my own little world, dealing with my parents and my own b.s. I never knew. I had known that he had health issues. And he'd called me a couple of times, since the last time I was at the apartment with he and mom, just to ask me a question n to chat. I guess when you are out of site it's easier to lose touch completely. I'm so very sorry. I wish I'd been there for him, and Mary Ann. It would have been my pleasure to help and be a support. Damn there's another regret. Please reach out to me... for anything, his Memorial Service . I'm at the same address, n cell number.

“ What a shock. I haven't heard from Steve in 9 years but have had him on my mind so heavily for the last month or so. I remember some really special times with him. He could be such a smart, handsome and even sentimental man at times. I wish i had reached out to him sooner. My sincerest sympathy as his loved ones mourn his loss. Lisa
