“ The last time we really talked you were upset with something concerning your kids; I won't go into detail since it's no one's business. I gave you some advice after seeing your status about things and saw how stressed you were. After all that advice I contacted you not long later with a pregnancy test and a faint line and you were telling me you hope everything works out for me and I get the big family I wanted. We didn't always talk and when we were kids we grew distant and had a falling out due to others coming between us. I wish they didn't and I will miss you and pray for your babies everyday. I know your up there with your baby girl watching your babies down on earth waiting for your reunion again. Love you girly ❤️

“ Q: How did you meet Victoria?
A: Back in highschool Victoria came into the health room to take her insulin and she was new to the world of diabetes and I helped her and taught her how to manage her diabetes. I do miss my diabetic buddy I'll see you again one day.
